Pangean Technologies Appoints Jack Galligan as Senior Vice President of Sales

New York, N.Y. (PRWEB) October 27, 2005 -- Pangean Technologies, specialists in SIP-based VoIP applications for collaboration and enterprise communications technologies, today announced the addition of Jack Galligan to our team, as Senior Vice President of Sales. Jack is an experienced sales veteran with both traditional and IP-based voice communications and their related complementary technologies.

Jack has extensive sales experience in the IP and VoIP industries, including senior level positions at IPC, IP Blue Software Solutions and Twisted Pair Solutions. His role at Pangean will be to focus on streamlining the sales process and increasing direct sales of Pangean's SIP-based VoIP solutions in the enterprise, along with our ever-increasing Government sales.

"We are very excited about the addition of Jack to our team. With his extensive sales experience and large breadth of knowledge of the VoIP industry, we believe Jack will be a tremendous asset in our direct sales channels", said Tarun Kapoor, CEO of Pangean Technologies, "and will help drive our innovative process for the converged VoIP solutions that we offer to the enterprise market."

Pangean's flagship product, insta-REACT!, is the first of its kind that is SIP-based and integrates Presence, Instant Message, Multi-Party Audio Conference, Push to Talk, and recording on a single interface, achieving instant enterprise-wide communications. The product is similar in "look and feel" to traditional, state-of-the-art instant messaging, however, along with text, it uses voice as the primary means of communication and allows users to instantly and easily communicate with each other no matter the geographic location. It provides a cost-effective and scalable means to have "persistent" conference calls for internal and telecommuter use. The product also provides enterprise-wide IP intercom and conference functionalities for connecting companies with multiple locations.

"I am thrilled for the opportunity to help Pangean Technologies and believe there is a tremendous need for converged SIP-based VoIP intercom, interoffice, and conference communications solutions that are cost-effective, scalable, and enhance productivity for every end user.", said Jack Galligan, "Pangean Technologies is on the forefront of innovative solutions that address this need and this is where I wanted to be."
